Marion Church Votes To Buy King-Brown Home

MEMBERS ACT UNANIMOUSLY ON PROPOSAL

Central Christian Church Acts on New Home; Nazarene To Buy Present Edifice.

The congregation of Central Christian church yesterday voted unanimously to purchase Etowah, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray R. King and Mr. and Mrs. W. Hoover Brown on Mt. Vernon avenue. Proposal to purchase the residence and spacious grounds was presented by Elmer L. Weimer, chairman of the building committee during the morning church service.

The church will take over the quarters occupied by the King family on Nov. 1 this year and the remainder of the house, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Brown on May 1, 1948. Central Christian church will be purchased by the congregation of the First Church of the Nazarene who will take possession Nov. 1 this year.

Plans Not Definite

While plans are not definite a church architect has conferred with representatives of the church regarding the proposed building. Tentative plans call for the erection of a sanctuary at the rear of the home using the entrance for both the home and church edifice. It was the opinion of the architect that the new church home will be one of the finest the denomination has in the midwest. Just when work will begin depends on building conditions after the congregation takes over the entire property May 1 next year, Cutler McGrew, a member of the building committee said today. The 30-room home will be used by the congregation for church services, religious education, recreational and social activities.

"The purchase of the new home is a farsighted move on the part of Central Christian congregation," the pastor, Rev. Eldred Johnston said today. "The move is valuable not only to the present generation but succeeding generations of the church and community," he added. In commenting on the purchase he paid tribute to the women of the congregation who, he said, have been a moving factor in acquiring the new church home.

Present Church Outgrown

The present church was built about 40 years ago. Growth in membership and expansion of activities have made the necessity of larger quarters apparent for some time, it is pointed out.

Members of the First Church of the Nazarene voted to purchase the Central Christian church at a congregational meeting Wednesday night, May 7. Earlier plans of the congregation were to build on ground owned by the church on South State street near Columbia.

Tentative plans call for some redecorating and other features but any definite action will be taken at a later date. The congregation has occupied the present building since 1919. It formerly was occupied by the Lutheran congregation and was built more than 50 years ago.

Growth in membership and the need for more adequate facilities for Sunday school activities necessitated larger quarters.

Rev. H. E. Zimmerman, who will have completed eight years as pastor of the church in July, expressed happiness over the prospect of the new congregational home and stated it will solve many perplexing problems regarding space and allow for expansion of many activities heretofore prohibitive because of lack of quarters.

Predict Labor Bill This Week

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19—Republican Senators Taft (Ohio) and Ball (Minn) said today senate-house conferees may complete work on a compromise labor bill this week.

At the same time Democratic Senator George (Ga) predicted the result "won't be as drastic as the case bill" of last year and that President Truman will find it difficult to veto."

George noted that organized labor leaders have bitterly attacked both senate and house bills, but he said he is convinced the senate measure does not restrict union activities unduly.

May Lose Strength

Voicing confidence that the final version will be much closer to the senate bill then the one the house passed, the Georgia lawmaker added to a reporter:

"It may not even be as strong because in rewriting its terms in conference some of its provisions may be diluted. In fact, it probably won't be as drastic as the

Case of Smallpox Is Reported In Caledonia; Vaccinations Set

First case of smallpox in Marion county in nearly 20 years was reported after the residence of T. J. Hill of Caledonia was placed under quarantine Sunday by county health authorities.

Ill with the disease is T. J. Hill, 45, owner of a garage there.

In view of the spread of the disease through widely separated sections of the county within recent weeks Dr. N. Sifritt, county health commissioner, today was making preparations for widespread vaccination of Caledonia area residents tomorrow.

The health officer, assisted by Dr. M. F. Axthelm, Caledonia and Marion physician, and three nurses from the health office will be in Caledonia Tuesday to vaccinate all applicants. They will be located at the Caledonia school building starting at 10 a. m. and will remain as long as necessary.

The annual school picnic marking the close of the Caledonia schools, also set for Tuesday, has been cancelled. Pupils, however, have been instructed by O. G. McGlone, superintendent, to report to school to receive their grade cards.

Attended Meeting Here

Whether other members might have been exposed to the disease by Mr. Hill yet cannot be determined. It was reported today that he attended a fish fry of the Marion county Fish and Game Association at the Eagles lodge hall here May 6.

Dr. Sifritt said the disease will develop in from 10 to 21 days after exposure. The usual period, however, is from 10 to 12 days.

Mr. Hill is married and has two children, one a pupil in the Caledonia school. The other is under school age.

In preparation for the vaccinations Dr. Sifritt last night ordered a supply of vaccine unit from the state health department. Two hundred units arrived by special delivery mail this morning and at least 500 units will be available tomorrow, Dr. Sifritt said.

Dr. Axthelm already has been supplied with a number of units so that Caledonia residents who wish to act immediately need not wait until tomorrow.

In view of the recurrence of the disease in the county both Dr. Sifritt and Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, today urged all residents of the city and county to be vaccinated immediately. "Any one who has not had a successful "take" in the last five years should be revaccinated," they said.

A vaccination within five days after exposure still will prevent the disease. Immunization of large numbers of people is considered the only successful way to prevent the spread of the disease into epidemic proportions.

Source Not Determined

Source of the exposure which led to the illness of Mr. Hill has not been determined. The garage he operates is located in U. S. route 30-S and handles considerable business for through-traffic motorists. Health authorities learned from Mr. Hill that he had not been away from town in recent days.

Mr. Hill had been ill for several days before skin eruptions indicated smallpox, his physician, Dr. Axthelm, said. Eruptions are fairly heavy, he reported. His condition is improving.

State health department authorities entered the picture this afternoon when Dr. P. E. Harris, chief of the division of communicable diseases, came here from Columbus to confirm the diagnosis of the attending physician. He also will attempt to learn how and when exposure to the disease took place.

Dr. Sifritt said this morning there sometimes is difficulty in early diagnosis to distinguish smallpox from chicken pox. He pointed out, however, that a person 45 years of age rarely contracts chicken pox.

In view of the spread of smallpox to New York City a few weeks ago and to Fostoria, O., last week, health authorities are taking no chances here. In both cases the disease was traced to sources in Mexico. Several mil-

MARION BOY FATALLY HURT WHEN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE

Marion Youth Under Arrest Identified in Purse Snatchings

A 20-year-old Marion youth was apprehended by city police Saturday night after he allegedly tried to force entrance into a car in which Mrs. John Goyer of 189 Summit street was sitting.

He is William E. Kline of 479 Farming street and police say testimony given by persons since his arrest has implicated him in a number of crimes involving purse snatching and molesting of women, the first occurring March 26, 1947.

On that date police received a call at 10:14 p. m. from Miss Martha Huntsman of 292 South Vine street, who reported that her purse had been snatched at the corner of High and Church streets. Saturday the call which led to his arrest was also received at 10:14 p. m.

Miss Huntsman's purse contained $45 and a diamond ring. Police say she has identified Kline as the person who stole the purse.

Named As "Helpful Stranger"

On May 4 Mrs. J. E. Crawmer of 260 Kensington Place was aided by Richard Silman of 237 West Columbia street, Charles Lister of 256 South Vine street, and an unidentified young man in getting her car out of the mud at a filling station on the corner of Church and High streets.

After the car was freed the unidentified man snatched a purse from the front seat of the car and ran north through the alley. Mrs. Crawmer and the two boys have identified Kline as the other person.

Two young girls who escaped from a youth who attempted to molest them the evening of May 10 have also identified him as the offender, according to police.

Saturday night the car Mrs. Goyer was in was parked near the intersection of South Prospect and Church streets. Kline tried to get into the car with her, she told police, but she pushed him in the face and drove away, then reported the incident to police. They picked up the trail, received a report of him being near Center and Vine streets and then followed a lead to Main and George streets where he was apprehended.

Mrs. Goyer, wife of a city fireman, was positive in identifying Kline as the person who tried to get into the car.

He is held in city jail awaiting charges which police say will be filed within the next few days. Kline is married and has been employed in a local factory, police reported.

President Says Mother Improved Slightly After Relapse.

By The Associated Press

GRANDVIEW, Mo., May 19 — President Truman cheered up a bit today as he reported his 94-year-old mother, fighting for her life against a "very tired and weak heart," as better this morning.

The President talking with reporters at 7:20 a. m. (Kansas City time) after his usual 20-minute before breakfast walk reported: "She's better this morning."

The conversation took place near the doorway of the Hotel Muehlebach where the President spent the night, 17 miles from his mother's frame home here.

The President, looking slightly more cheerful than last night, said "She is better." He said he had telephoned Grandview the first thing this morning and talked with his siter, Miss Mary Jane Truman.

"My sister said she was better this morning and mother herself said she felt better," he said.

It was his personal physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham who said last night that Mrs. Martha E. Truman was handicapped by a "very tired and weak heart."

Mr. Truman refused to make plans for a return to Washington after his mother "slipped" yesterday afternoon after an unexpected rally Sunday morning.

THREE DIE AS HOLDUP FAILS

Bandit, 2 Guests Killed at Chicago in Thwarted Robbery.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 19—Three persons were shot and killed last night during an attempted robbery of a west side apartment where 32 people were gathered for a dinner party.

The dead were Albert Fineberg, 38, in whose home the shooting occurred, Benjamin Eisenstein, 39, personal bailiff to Municipal Judge Oscar S. Caplan, and a man identified as George Stanislawski, an ex-convict, 32, who police said was one of the robbers. One of the guests was taken to a hospital after being struck by one of the intruders.

Witnesses to the shooting told police Sgt. Ambrose Mahoney that the front door of the apartment had been left ajar to improve ventilation. Shortly before midnight three men appeared in the doorway. Two of them carried guns, and other a large hammer.

Sgt. Mahoney said the witnesses told him two of the robbers went into the kitchen and lined up the women against the walls. Meanwhile Eisenstein started toward the bedroom where he had his coat containing a gun which he is authorized to carry as a bailiff.

One of the guests, Sam Takiff, 38, sprang against the third intruder and tripped him. Eisenstein fired at the man later identified as Stanislawski, and killed him.

The other two robbers rushed into the living room and opened fire, fatally wounding Eisenstein and Fineberg. The intruders then fled.

Takiff was struck by the man with the hammer as he lunged at one of the robbers, witnesses said. His condition is reported as good.

An inquest was scheduled for later today. Stanislawski was identified by his wife who said they had been married only two weeks.

Telephone Strike Pickets On Patrol Across Entire Country

Failure of Washington Talks Brings Formation of Lines Again.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19—Striking installations workers of the Western Electric Company today re-established their picket lines, forcing curtailment of telephone service again in some areas.

In New Jersey, the Bell Telephone Company reported several main exchanges were "heavily picketed." Service was placed on an emergency basis at points where operators refused to cross the picket lines.

Some curtailment also was reported in Illinois, but in New York other workers ignored the pickets and went to their posts.

The Association of Communication Equipment Workers, claiming 20,000 members, sent the pickets back to their beats pending the outcome of negotiations here for a strike settlement. The lines were withdrawn temporarily last week.

Mishap Fatal To Galion Man

Killed When Hit by Car as He Stands Beside Stalled Truck.

Special to The Star

GALION, May 19 — Juan A. Teniente, 23, son of Mrs. Catalina Negrete of Galion, was killed and a companion, Joseph Campo, also of Galion, was injured at 4 a. m. Sunday on route 30 west of Mansfield when an automobile driven by Ritner Leazy of Mt. Gilead passed the truck beside which they were standing, state highway patrolmen reported.

According to patrolmen, the truck Teniente was driving had broken down. He had summoned Robert Campo, als of Galion, who had backed up on the wrong side of the highway to attempt pulling the truck from the pavement, they explained. When Leazy saw lights on the road directly in his path, he attempted to pass on the right, he told patrolmen, running into the ditch and hitting Teniente and his companion.

Campo was taken to Mansfield General hospital suffering from multiple lacerations of the face and a fractured left leg. Teniente's body was taken to the Gieger funeral home in Mansfield and later removed to the Volk funeral home in Galion.

Teniente, a native of Mexico, was born Oct. 21, 1924, to Pilar and Catalina Teniente. He is survived by his mother and stepfather, Hilario Negrete of Galion. He was employed at the Galion Iron Works.

HALT FOREMEN AT MARYSVILLE PLANT

Barred by Pickets in Salter Strike.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, May 19—Foremen of the H. B. Salter Manufacturing Co. were barred from the factory by pickets when they attempted to enter the building this morning at the company's request. Foremen had been asked to return to consider alteration of the plant which is under way. Office workers were permitted to enter the plant this morning, contrary to rumors circulated earlier that AFL pickets would block their entrance.

Company and union spokesmen were meeting today to consider the questions which have arisen since three AFL affiliated unions went on strike Thursday.

The Salter Co., which produces plumbing supplies, has rejected a demand by the strikers for general wage increases. A slump in the market is given as the reason for the refusal. An offer of pay increases to certain men in the lower pay bracket was refused by the unions.

MAY ADMITS DOUBTS OVER LOAN PAYMENT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19—Andrew J. May, former Kentucky congressman, testified today he borrowed $5,000 in 1941 for Murray Garsson, wartime munitions maker, and acknowledged that he does not know whether it ever has been repaid.

May told the federal district court jury in his war fraud trial that as an "accommodation" he signed a note for Murray Garsson to borrow the money from Elisha Walker, whom he identified as "New York banker" with Kuhn, Loeb and Company. Asked by his attorney, Warren Magee, if the note was ever repaid, May replied:

"I don't know."

May is charged with taking $55,000 in bribes, while he was wartime chairman of the house military committee. On trial with him are Murray and Henry Garsson, key figures in a $76,000,000 arms manufacturing combine, who are accused of conspiring to pay the alleged bribes.

As the opening defense witness, the 72-year-old May testified also that the signed notes for $10,000 in 1941 to help Murray Garsson

JOHN HOPKINS MEETS DEATH SOUTH OF CITY

11-Year-Old Boy Dies Following Accident Near Railroad Crossing.

John Hopkins, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hopkins of 813 Cheney avenue, died at 8 a. m. today in City hospital as the result of injuries suffered at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a southbound car on Route 4 just south of the Pennsylvania railroad crossing.

According to reports from state patrolmen the boy had just stepped from a northbound automobile driven by W. W. Higham of 581 King avenue, and darted across to the west side of the road enroute home. He was struck by a car driven by Eugene Frederick, 17, of Route 3, Marion. John P. Courtright Jr., 10, of 205 South Greenwood street was a passenger in the Frederick car.

The accident occurred after the railroad crossing had been blocked by a Pennsylvania freight train and the Frederick car was the first to cross the tracks after the train, running from Columbus to Sandusky, cleared the crossing. The northbound traffic had not started to move when the boy ran in the path of the car and was hurled approximately 50 feet by the impact, patrolmen said.

Skull Fractured

He was taken to City hospital in the Boyd and Uncapher ambulance where he was treated for skull fracture, a fractured right leg and internal injuries.

Friends said the boy had worked at the Country club golf course last year and had gone out to the links yesterday for the first time this season. He had served as caddy for nine holes then told his companions he had to return home.

He accepted the ride offered by Mr. Higham and when the latter had to stop for the crossing the boy decided to get out there, since his home was fairly close. He hesitated for a moment after getting out of the car and then darted in front of it and into the path of the Frederick car. Mr. Higham said he had just noticed the end of the train clear the crossing and called to the youth but was unable to make him stop in time to avoid the accident.

Eugene Frederick, driver of the other car, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Frederick of near Marion, and Courtright, the passenger is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Courtright of South Greenwood street. Both are seniors at Harding High school.

Account of Witnesses

Witnesses told state patrolmen that the Hopkins boy darted in front of the Frederick car and it was impossible to avoid hitting him due to the line of northbound cars waiting for the crossing.

Since the accident, efforts have been made to locate the victim's father at Crane Lake, Minn. When the family was unable to contact him they enlisted the aid of the state patrol who have been trying since this morning to reach Mr. Hopkins through radio broadcasts.

Native of Richwood

John Hopkins Jr. was born March 13, 1936, in Richwood, a son of John and Ruth Osborn Hopkins, the father a native of North Lewisburg and the mother of Richwood. He was a fifth grade pupil in the Oakland Heights school, and had lived in Marion ten years.

Surviving with the parents are a brother, Thomas Eugene, and a sister, Patricia Ann, both at home.

The body was taken to the M. H. Gunder and Sons funeral home on West Center street. Funeral arrangements are awaiting word from the father, who is employed with a well drilling company.

The Native Returns—with His Pockets Full

By O-LAH-KAH-WAH-GREH-SEH
(By ALIAS HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

...ILL, Kas., May 19 — ...efaces to a tale of the ...ne native, still wearing ...se feathers but carry... ...ocket full of oil royal...

...ored years ago Jesuit ...s established a mis... sion among the Osage Indians here and thereby began the first permanent white settlement in Kansas

Hal Boyle

That was in 1847. By 1965 most of the tribe had become Christians. So when hol-lungry white settlers began pressing to gain the vast Osage lands, the Indians sold them peacefully to the U. S government without hardly lifting a scalp.

They got $1.50 an acre for their lost happy hunting grounds

Deal With Cherokees

Forced to migrate, the 4,500 tribe members marched chiefly on foot 125 miles to the area around present day Pawnuska, Oklahoma. There they bought 1,500,000 acres from the Cherokee nation. It was supposed to be good hunting land but the shrewd Cherokees thought they knew better. They were glad to get rid of it at fifty cents an acre to their homeless Redskin cousins.

A plague cut the Osage tribe in half. But by one of the lucky blunders of history the worthless rockpile sold them by the Cherokees turned out to be some of the richest oil land in the country. For some years tribe members averaged $12,000 to $13,000 annually.

Last week this village of 800 held a four day celebration to mark the centennial anniversary of the founding of the Jesuit mission and 100 years of Kansas growth and prosperity.

Osages Send Delegation

Distinguished visitors came from all over America the Osages, who had helped support the mission school for decades with their sons and dollars were invited to send a delegation.

Two dozen came. They didn't walk back from Oklahoma. They rode in their own big cars or reserved seats on the Katy railroad. They didn't sleep under skin tents. They put up in good hotels at nearby Parsons.

It was a proud homecoming for 85-year-old Chief Lookout, the tribe's leader. As a small boy he had hoofed it all the way to Pawhuska with the other tribesmen. Later he had returned for a year to study at the mission.

Speaks In Own Tongue

Although he knows English well Chief Lookout spoke to the centennial gathering in his own tongue a simple language that has but 400 words.

"This is a birthday celebration to me too," he said significantly. "The Osages have come here to show their appreciation of the training and education given our children by the Jesuit fathers."

Because of the fatigue of age the old chief remained only one day but before returning to his Oklahoma home he quipped "our royalties are declining. If you ever discover oil here I'll be glad to come back."

But his followers stayed and entertained the Palefice audience with some native Indian dances. Some of the bucks were so short winded from fat living they could hardly go through the steps.

Boyle Initiated

They took several old guitaries into the tribe. They had one blanket left so assistant Chief Franklin Shaw wrapped it around me and made me an Osage. The blanket was made by a factory in Pendleton, Ore.

Chief Shaw gave me the Indian name O-Lah-Kah-Wah-Greh-Seh, which means one who carries the word.

He also said our tribe is trying to get the government to pay us $750,000 plus five per cent interest which Chief Shaw said is still owed us under the 1865 treaty.

Come on Uncle Sam, start giving. My squaw wants to build a new tepee. You can't kick us Indians around forever.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Weight Gains

Those of us who weigh more than we should seldom like to admit that our stoutness is due to overeating. We search around for reasons and causes elsewhere, some believing it is only "natural" for them to be fat while others think they may have glandular trouble.

And it is true that certain gland disorders do lead to a gain in weight. Nevertheless such cases are few and far between. Most doctors among them Dr. Edwin G. Langrock of New York, state that the only reason for obesity in the vast majority of cases is the eating of more food than is required. In any case, even where overweight is due to glandular disturbances the treatment consists basically in eating less.

Many height and weight tables have been formulated which show what the average person between 25 and 35 years of age should weigh. According to Dr. Langrock, weights above these levels are detrimental to health and lead to a shortened life span. No additional weight should be gained after 30 years of age.

In planning the diet so as to bring about a loss of weight or maintain the weight at the normal level, steps must be taken to be sure that enough of the various food parts especially protein are supplied for body growth.

Protein is furnished by such foods as meat, milk, eggs cheese and whole-grain cereals. There should also be enough protein for the adult to maintain and repair the body tissues. In addition, vitamins and minerals should be supplied, and enough starchy foods and sugars to supply energy and prevent acidosis or a lessening of the amount of alkali in the blood and tissues.

In order to lose weight, the number of calories or heat value of the diet must be less than what an individual uses up in his daily activity. Thus a 1200 or 1300 calorie diet is often used. In planning the diet the physician will first determine the number of calories the patient needs. Then he will select foods which furnish vitamins, minerals and proteins and prescribe them in a quantity which will furnish the necessary number of calories. In some instances vitamin and mineral supplements may be utilized to make sure that a deficiency does not occur.

The overweight person can best reduce under the direction of the physician. I have outlined some suggested diets and instructions which may be helpful to following the physician's advice and I shall be glad to send this information to those who write in enclosing a large self-addressed, stamped envelope, with six cents in stamps. Names will not be used.

Diplomas Received By 17 at Caledonia

A class of seventeen seniors of Caledonia High school received diplomas in commencement exercises held Friday night in the Caledonia Memorial Methodist church. Giving the class address was Johnny Jones of Columbus, columnist with the Columbus Dispatch.

The processional was played at the organ by Mrs. Mary Salisbury, music teacher at the school, and the invocation was given by Rev. S. E. Kaetzel, pastor of the Methodist church. The salutatory address, entitled "Investment in Youth," was given by Gwynn Beers, and the valedictory was by Raymond Cox. His topic was "Leaders for the Atomic Age."

Musical numbers included a vocal solo, "Spring Interlude," by Jerry Timson, a trumpet solo, "Lucky Stars," by Herbert Rodgers, a trombone solo, "Silver Zephyrs," and a trumpet solo, "Evening Thoughts," by JoAnn Clark. All were accompanied by Mrs. Salisbury.

An honor scholarship good for one year's tuition at Capital university was presented to Raymond Cox, and Orin G. McClone, superintendent, presented the diplomas.

The class flower was the red rose, colors, blue and silver, and the motto, "Push, Pull or Get Out of the Way."

PICKETS

ence failed to beat the 6 a. m. (local time) deadline set by ACEW for restoration of the lines.

It is one of the few unions still at odds with the Bell system as the strike entered its seventh week.

The contract negotiations broke up at 4 a. m., today, to resume at 1:30 p. m.

Ernest Weaver, ACEW president, said his order for resumption of picketing remained in effect.

John Murray, a labor department conciliator, announced only this:

"At 3:30 a. m. the company submitted a wage proposal. The conference recessed at 4 a. m. until 1:30 p. m. today, at which time the union will make a reply to the company's offer."

Mum On Proposal

Neither the labor department, Western Electric for the ACEW would say what the proposal was. Previously the company had offered pay increases of seven, eight, and nine cents an hour, to be applied in three areas. The union demanded 15 cents across the country.

Two other western electric unions—representing some 27,000 workers—reached agreements yesterday and early today. These provided pay boosts averaging about 11½ cents an hour and contain "no strike" clauses.

A settlement of the installation workers' dispute would have paved the way to peace in virtually the whole telephone industry after a six-weeks strike.

Aside from the western electric disputes, all that is left of the nation-wide telephone strike of 340,000 workers which started April 7 is a strike of a few thousand workers in the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

dred persons, apparently federation members, watched from across the street.

Although mass picketing had been ordered throughout the state by the ACEW, Ohio Bell said only small numbers had appeared in front of its buildings.

The company said some of the pickets in Cleveland were members of the CIO Maritime Union.

Federation officials, who pointed out that the union's by-laws restrict members from passing through all picket lines, said no instances of the rule being broken had been reported.

Return to Work

Operators had returned to work yesterday at Zanesville, East Liverpool, Wellsville and Youngstown, where no ACEW pickets were on duty.

The ACEW is striking against Western Electric, the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell system. Previously withdrawn, the pickets were ordered back at Bell buildings after National ACEW President George Weaver charged Western Electric was attempting to force a "union busting" clause in the contract.

In Cincinnati there was no picketing, a court order last week having prohibited Western Electric Company employes from marching about the property of the Cincinnati and Suburban Bell Telephone Company.

Fight Meeting Set

Counsel for the Association of Communication Equipment Workers and the National Association of Telephone Equipment Workers, said a meeting would be held today to decide whether they would fight the injunction.

Several hundred operators appeared in front of exchanges in the Youngstown area, but refused to cross the picket lines set up by 15 Western Electric maintenance employes.

Fifth commercial department employes and a few long distance workers returned to work in Toledo, but most federation members respected the picket lines and emergency service continued.

SMALLPOX

lion New Yorkers were vaccinated after a traveler became ill on his return from a trip to Mexico. The bus on which he rode was traced through the central states, including Ohio.

City and county health authorities said there had been no cases of smallpox reported in the county since 1929. At that time the diseases reached epidemic proportions although there were no deaths. Of the 188 cases under quarantine, 162 were in the city and 26 in the county.

Last death from the disease is believed to have been that of a Caledonia women June 25, 1925. Exposure came from visitors from Detroit, Mich., where a smallpox epidemic prevailed. The same visitors also called at the home of relatives in Morrow county, a short distance east of Claridon, and the resulting illness caused the death of a man and wife.

Dr. Sifritt said today there was little to fear from the spread of the disease among county school children. The county health office has carried on a systematic program of vaccination for the last 25 years. Approximately 75 per cent of the present school pupils have been immunized. The last vaccination in the county schools, however, was in the 1945-1946 school term.

Defensive Tactics

THE labor legislation being hammered out in congress is incidental to something that has been hammered out in public opinion.

The bills passed by the house and senate and now being patched together in conference are an effect, not a cause. They represent an attempt by topheavy congressional majorities to bring public law abreast of public opinion.

The "imbalance" which Senator Taft says he hopes to correct by revision of labor laws already has been corrected in large measure by a new atmosphere of administration of the existing laws. Those who have argued that the existing laws were not as bad as they were made to seem by unreasonable interpretations always have been at least half right. It is evident now that if no revision at all is accomplished this year, a sweeping improvement still will have been brought about by the changed attitude of the people, their administrative agencies and the courts.

The leaders of the unions recognize this; they are on the defensive. They have realized belatedly that the public is as alarmed over the excesses of big unionism as it used to be over the excesses of big business.

The irony of their efforts to stem the reform tide is the way they find themselves fighting in some instances against proposals for the benefit of their own rank and file. Many unionists are on the side of the majorities in congress. They find it as hard to understand the logic of their leaders' blind resistance to reform as they have found it, on occasion, to understand the logic of their leaders' blind insistence on doing things to make reform inevitable.

If President Truman can be bulldozed into vetoing a labor-reform bill on the premise that only by so doing can he win union labor's support in his run for the presidency in 1948, he will be asking for one of the rudest surprises of his career in the White House.

A Place in the Country

GEN. GEORGE C. KENNEY'S 100-plane rehearsal of a bombing run over New York, Newark, Trenton, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Baltimore and Washington has called attention to many important aspects of life in an age of atomic bombs and globe-circling airplanes.

In a country which never experienced a real raid by heavy bombers, it probably has called attention most sharply to the desirability of a good, deep hole in the ground, 50 miles from nowhere, with a 20-foot slab of reinforced concrete over the top, heat, light, other modern conveniences, plenty of food and no copies of anything suggestive of H. G. Wells in its well-stocked library.

Whatever the general had in mind, he made it a certainty that several million of his countrymen will spend at least a few days sizing up likely sites for the "better 'ole" which seems to be man's last chance in a world quite obviously in no mood to give up the search for a better way to wipe out his cities.

Unclaimed Benefits

AN ESTIMATED $2,731,000,000 worth of veterans' benefits will be unclaimed at the end of this year, it is estimated. This has sharp implications for lawmakers considering additional benefits.

Hundreds of thousands of American men who fought in World War II aren't interested in benefits. They exist separately from those whose benefits are unclaimed because of neglect, error and ignorance.

It is recalled that during the war and immediately afterward it was assumed all veterans would need financial help and ask for it. The assumption should have been broadened to include veterans who wouldn't need help, wouldn't ask for it and wouldn't resent not getting it. Estimates of 2,500,000 former enlisted men failing to file applications for terminal leave pay and that many more not using educational and training benefits for which they were eligible suggest there may be more young Americans looking realistically at a public policy of indiscriminate veterans' benefits than most politicians would like to admit.

Local Boys Make Good

ADD TO the ranks of local boys who made good the names of seven of the 17 Communist leaders who in 1943 gathered in Moscow to "dissolve" the Communist International.

They are Otto Kuusinen, now president of the Karelo-Finnish Soviet Socialist Republic; Maurice Thorez, former vice premier of France and still very much a power in French politics; Klement Gottwald, premier of Czechoslovakia; Georgi Dimitrov, premier of Bulgaria; Ana Pauker, generally considered the real ruler of Romania; Matyas Rakosi, deputy premier of Hungary; and Wilhelm Pieck, leader of the German Communists.

Here is evidence of the extent of the spread of communism outside Russia. It also is evidence that, even if the Communist International was dissolved, the boys are doing business on an even larger scale at their old stands.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Portal-to-Portal Bill a Bit Confusing.

WASHINGTON, May 19—In the senate lobby, the legislators laugh and say Mr. Truman could not have known what was in the portal-to-portal back pay ban, because no one does except Missouri's Republican Senator Donnell, who wrote it, and maybe a Philadelphia lawyer who helped him. Donnell chased commas and semicolons all over congress for six weeks or more before he succeeded in arranging them in the order he wanted, but even so he could not explain the ifs, ands, buts and howevers to the senate which actually passed the bill without understanding it.

Indeed, Mr. Truman appeared just as confused as the senate about what effect the legislation will have on the wage-hour law and took his full 10 days before signing the measure. The senators assume the message was written for him by the wage-hour administration. It took a broad view of the matter assuming the law would not upset its work or alter its standards.

As a matter of fact, the message merely gathered together the arguments used against the bill in the senate from the labor union side, and assumed officially these possibilities would not come to pass. It bore such a distinctly union flavor, the political trade interpreted it as a prelude to the threatened veto of the omnibus union reform bill.

Taft Surprised

The unions were against this ban of portal-to-portal back pay suits, of course, but not energetically, and the President, by taking their arguments and advocating a higher minimum wage law, padded the cudgel. Senator Taft was personally somewhat surprised that Mr. Truman was not tougher about some aspects.

However, there was nothing the White House could do but sign the bill. The unions actually had filed suits for $6 billions of back pay for time spent in years past walking to machines and back again, or opening windows or putting on uniforms to go to work inside the company gate. To pay this sum out of current earnings would have required a tremendous price increase. Furthermore, the government would have lost hundreds of millions of dollars in tax refunds if industry had to furnish this back pay. So about 80 per cent of public opinion demanded the legislation.

Nor was there anything new in Mr. Truman's advocacy of a 65 cent minimum wage law, instead of 40 cents. He was for this last year, and it passed the senate, failing in the house. Of course the current pay for the cheapest labor in most sections is now 65 cents or above, but enactment of federal legislation would prevent reduction if business goes sour. The house probably will not do anything about this at this session either.

Thus the portal-to-portal message was somewhat a political routine, and if Donnell has his commas and semicolons in the right places, will not be of much consequence.

AFL Campaign

More seriously the AFL is buying two-thirds page ads in local papers headed: "Industry-wide Bargaining or Chaos?" This is for effect on the conferees working on the union reform bill, particularly to keep them from accepting the house ban on industry-wide bargaining. The ad is written as an appeal to the public for support against the ban, which the ad says was directed by the selfish interest of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Some Republicans wish to water down the reform legislation for strategic political purposes, but the public interest of the industry-bargaining ban has solid grounds, regardless of what NAM or the unions may or may not think. The anti-trust laws specifically prevent industry from dealing on a national basis as respects prices particularly, or in fact in any combination which might be considered restraint of trade. In simple public justice there is no reason why the unions should be freed from the anti-trust laws, and permitted to fix prices on a national industry-wide basis by their wage demands and constantly increasing demands for working privileges which increase costs to the consumer. Union combinations also fix prices and act in restraint of trade.

The union reform bill, however, has passed the stage of considering what's right. That stage ended with the close of the debate. In conference, its authors are now in the realm of considering what's politic?

Can't Cow-Napping Be Banned in Boston?

A pair of Massachusetts citizens have been arrested on charges of stealing a cow in a taxi-cab.

The driver wouldn't have thought anything about it had they not borrowed the cigaret lighter to change the brand.

Police had noticed the strange cargo, of course, but had naturally figured it was just some Harvard men out for an evening of fun.

One knew this is a mechanical age, but who thought to see rustlers operating with the meter running?

Incidentally, this is apparently the answer to the tourists' query: "What has happened to the old west?" It's moved east.

Yes sir, the western badman has swapped his horse for a hack and moved from the land of the plains and the sky to that of the bean and the cod. And, with rustlers being apprehended on the very doorsteps of the Cabots and the Lodges, the Blue Book must revise its estimate of how far it is from Big Sandy to Back Bay.

Boston was shocked by this outbreak of bovine-banditry. But then, Boston shocks easily. Consider what it has done for Erskine Caldwell and Katherine Windsor.

Railroads Get Their Orders

Supreme Court Upholds ICC Ruling

THE Supreme Court's 7-to-2 decision last Monday upholding an ICC order of two years ago raising railroad freight rates 10 per cent in the north and east, but lowering them 10 per cent in the south and as far west as the Rockies is legal confirmation of an economic upheaval.

In arguments pro and con on this question the issue was joined bitterly betweens spokesmen for the four regions named, each seeking through the means of railroad rates to assist regional interests. Nine northern states, governors of the six New England states and 33 railroads fought the case up to the Supreme Court. A similar action also has been started by Georgia and its former governor, Ellis Arnall, charging that 19 southern and western railroads have conspired to fix freight rates that are discriminatory against the south.

A fundamental issue, of course, is the status of the railroads themselves: whether they are component parts of an industry existing to make money by giving service subject to public regulation, or whether they are component parts of a public utility existing to give service, with money-making sidetracked whenever public regulation decides to issue an order to that effect.

Henry A. Wallace took the lead when he was vice president in a campaign to bring railroads to heel for the accommodation of southern and western enterprise, demanding a freight-rate structure which would encourage "new business and development of the newer industrial regions of the south and west." Former Governor Ellis Arnall of Georgia has asserted frequently that rate structures keep the south in a kind of "colonial status."

Dates Away Back

Wallace and Arnall did not discover the freight-rate issue. The ICC has been trying for 50 years to develop a more equitable freight-rate structure, so competitive shippers could rely on equal charges. Legislation has been proposed in congress to make railroads responsive to regional demands in rate-making.

At the same time, through one of the too-frequent inconsistencies of public administration, the railroads have been forbidden to work in closer cooperaion to harmonize their rate structures. The department of justice has told them, in effect, to be lone wolves, while the ICC has been urging them to organize. Railroad ownership, in the opinion of some operators, is caught in a fight between government agencies trying to destroy each other.

The freight-rate structure has evolved over a long period of years, subject to changes dictated by expediency. Originally, each carrier had its own rate and classification system. By the time the ICC was set up in 1887, the systems had been reduced to 50; at present there are only three major classification systems and five major class-rate territories, with numerous subdivisions. Payment for transportation of freight in any railroad territory is made under one of three sets of rates: class rates, exceptions to class rates, and commodity rates. Mileage rates are usually on a descending scale for longer shipments.

The Issue Decides

Shipments that traverse more than one railroad territory encounter different rates and classifications. The rate at which such shipments move is usually a compromise. The issue in the ICC decision which the Supreme court has just upheld was whether or not the interterritorial costs of moving traffic from the south or west into the eastern zone were unduly high.

The south and west, as they have gained industry and population, have been sensitive to anything suggesting discrimination in favor of the north and east. It is the same battle cry heard more than 70 years ago against "railroad monopoly."

The economic map of the United States today has been altered. Railroads are feeling the pressure of new regional industry and trying to reconcile the pressure with practices developed over many decades. The ICC—and now their dilemma with an order to the supreme court has stepped into resolve all doubts in favor of the pressure blocs from the south and west.

The Dominant Issue

By JOSEPH ALSOP

WASHINGTON, May 19—Making book on politics is a chancy business. Even so, it has now become a good money bet that foreign policy, rather than the labor issue or any other aspect of the domestic situation, will dominate the 1948 campaign. People in a hurricane rarely pause to argue about what to have for dinner. Their thoughts are likely to be concentrated on keeping the storm shutters closed. And by next year, the monetary crisis recently described in this space, as well as other obvious factors, will almost inevitably produce a sense of involvement in a hurricane.

The fortunes of every political camp will be thereby affected in a most radical manner. If President Truman continues to lead the country with the same boldness and decision he has shown in the past six months, the country's preoccupation with foreign policy will further assist his already improving chances. Put to the Republicans, it will present an acutely uncomfortable choice between openly disavowing as sheer blather most of the postwar slogans of their more conservative leaders or choosing a standard-bearer after the hearts, of Col. McCormick, Mr. Pew and Senator Wherry.

In Big Figures

This is true because the simple magnitude of the problems ahead is their most striking characteristic. They cannot be dealt with on the scale of the Greek-Turkish aid bill. One estimate of the authorization of funds needed, over a three to five-year period to prevent the worldwide dollar shortage from halting all postwar reconstruction, runs as high as $20,000,000,000. When it is considered that we are spending half this amount or more in annual defense appropriations the sum is placed in its correct proportion as a cheap price for a peaceful world. Nevertheless, it is easy to foresee the congressional, and particularly the Republican reaction, if the President goes before the next session of congress to request authorizations and appropriations of even half or one quarter this amount.

Furthermore, the monetary crisis is only half the story. The Communist party line is now plainly changing in Europe. At Moscow, the change was first announced by the extraordinary rudeness shown to French Foreign Minister Bidault by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov. (At one official dinner, Molotov first toasted Secretaries Bevin and Marshall, and then, a few minutes later, offered a toast to Bidault with the remark that he did not want to "leave anyone out.") The rudeness was, of course, merely an outward and visible sign of inner discontent with the system by which Communists all over Europe, and especially in France, have participated in national governments and worked for national reconstruction.

Communists in France

The French Communists have now left the government—the immediate cause being a strike in the Renault works in which the party supported the workers' demand for higher wages. Communist leaders like Jacques Duclos continue to assert that although no longer taking part in the government, the Communists will support government policies. But in Washington, in London, and according to report even in Paris, it is generally expected that this will prove to be nonsense. Instead, it is anticipated that the party will pull, one after the other, the various levers of command in the unions and elsewhere, by which it can halt French recovery. Trouble is also feared in Czechoslovakia, and perhaps in Italy. And this change of the Communist party line, from cooperation to obstruction of recovery, will inevitably make the American task of promoting political and economic stability still harder and more expensive.

All this merely goes to prove that foreign policy must inevitably occupy a more and more dominant place in all American political discussions. As to what the detailed results will be, prediction is futile at present. It is only possible to note certain phenomena of a suggestive character.

If the Republicans are to respond to the emergency abroad by emphasizing national unity, it is essential that the bi-partisan foreign policy be measurably strengthened. Prior to Secretary Marshall's return from Moscow, it was repeatedly reported here that bi-partisanship was weakening. It must now be added that the situation has lately grown even worse. The Republican symbol of bi-partisanship at Moscow was John Foster Dulles, and Dulles came back in a mood to criticize Marshall. Since he has made no secret of his feeling that Marshall, although a very great man, is also a very rigid one, it may be assumed that he has communicated his discontent to the Republican leaders in congress. And it may be further assumed that his criticism aroused no great horror, since Secretary Marshall's worst failure—indeed his only failure—has been his neglect to establish relations of genuine confidence with leading congressional Republicans. Under the circumstances, it is therefore difficult to imagine bi-partisan sponsorship of a vast program which would make sheer nonsense of the whole right-wing Republican program of cheeseparing economy, semi-isolationist foreign economic policy, and general "back to normalcy."

Dewey's Attitude

On the other hand, while Governor Thomas E. Dewey has broken all records for political mum-ness, he is known to advocate a strong foreign policy. He would certainly not fight a campaign, at this juncture, on the kind of isolationist platform he favored in 1940. And the majority of the most astute political observers in congress think Dewey's nomination is a foregone conclusion, as of today. That sums up the Republican dilemma. The country has best hope that a wise way out is discovered by the solons.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Jolson Story

Is the era of the crooner doing a fadeout? Is the trend distinctly toward gusto rather than mushiness in the human voice? Is virility giving cuteness a shoving around for radio and juke box popularity. It looks that way.

And Al Jolson may be largely responsible. In one of the most amazing comebacks in entertainment history, the king songster of Twenty-five years ago, is being piped via mike, platter and juke into the homes and taverns of the land as if he were a new discovery. In fact if we hear "April Showers" again we will start busting things. And "The Anniversary Song" comes out of this box and that too often, also.

Few voices have ever touched the Jolson one for gusto and socko. It is full grown, adult and straight-over-the-plate. It is everything that the croon "ain't." When Jolson is announced you know that, whatever you get, you will not get the impression of an over-mothered high school sophomore letting his heart break with the minimum show of impetuous masculinity.

The Jolson voice never suggests Little Lord Fauntleroy, the Rollo Boys or a lovesick kid devoted to a journey down the stream of life by sob, sigh and simper. When he mentions June or moon you know he can take both in his stride. And love and above come out of his system as suggesting atomic energy, not a bib, some gumshoes and a great big blush.

A voice in the Jolson school making even a slight reference to romance has in it the force of something splitting an atom. There is nothing subtle, pussy-footy or kindergartenish about it.

Put Jolson on the same air program with a bevy of crooners and you have the effect of a snow plow plowing through a children's hour.

For a long stretch now the only songsters to go places have been the boys who could put over an impression of pale, sweet, shy young men shot through with Cupid darts; and as full of romance, in a nice way, as all outdoors. You never felt sure whether they were just singing or whether they were trying to blend the poets Keats and Shelley with a dehydrated Romeo and a sick calf, retaining the goolest features of each.

It may be temporary. But the crooners and their managers are worried. The Voice of Tomorrow may be the one that is never to be confused with a moan or a tire leak. It may be one with uranium and plutonium in it. That man is here again.

GENERAL EISENHOWER has named a group of young officers to find out what the next war will be like in violence. They can find out by going to the Brooklyn baseball park and cheering the Giants.

Organized labor now has several radio programs on the air, but the whole idea is somewhat handicapped by the fact William Green can't croon and Phil Murray is no great shakes as a disc jockey.

Winston Churchill has sold his memoirs of the war for more than a million dollars. This brings him through the blood, sweat and tears into the ink, sweat and royalties.

Ima Dodo, tuning in on the broadcasts from the United Nations sessions listened an hour to a speech in Russian. Then she listened to the interpretation in English, and declared, "It was easier to follow the other way.

Street Scene

By TRUMAN TWILL

The following is a record of spoken and unspoken conversation between two males who have encountered each other on the street and realized they bought their identical suits of clothing from the same clothier, who told them he was doing them a special favor—only a few available, one your size, if you want it, hurry, hurry, etc.

A—(On your way to the races, probably, or maybe a masquerade. Where have I seen that getup? Hay, that meat-head can't do this. He's wearing my suit.) Hullo.

B—(Some people must buy their clothes in the dark. Or maybe they're secret agents fooling the police by wearing eccentric costumes. Hay, that chump is wearing my suit.) Hullo yourself. How're tricks?

A—(A bird who looks like that should be restrained from wearing anything that exaggerates his bad features. Undermining public welfare, that guy is. Wonder if he paid cash, or is keeping Louie on the hook.) Oh so-so. How're things with you?

B—(Wait till I see Louie, the chiseling lug. Got one your size, he says, only a few in the shipment, come right in if you're interested. Must have got a carload. Too bad he didn't have one to fit this sucker. Look at those sleeves.) Can't complain. Haven't seen you around lately.

A—(And won't see me around again for awhile, not until I can give this set of threads to the next Polish relief drive. Maybe I could have it dyed purple. Louie probably dumped a carload on us suckers. No wonder the price was right. Things must be really tough for Mooseface.) Been pretty busy. Where you been keeping yourself?

B—(No use kidding this creep. He knows how much we paid, even if only one of us got a bargain. What's the matter with that collar? Looks like he was trying to jump out of the coat. No one's likely to mistake us for identical twins, not while he looks like that.) Had the old nose on the grindstone. Nice day, huh?

A—(He should have kept it on longer and ground off the point. It was a nice day until now. The sooner I leave this ape the better.) Sure is. Well, I must get along.

B—(Let's have no loitering, Buster. You'd better get off the streets before someone arrests you for impersonating a human being.) Swell to have seen you. See you again.

A—(I hope not.) Yeah. Well, so long.

B—(Get going, Mac.) Well, so long.

A—(Maybe he'll tear the pants.)

B—(Maybe he'll tear the coat.)

Big Scrubbing Job Down to a Science

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—Scrubbing the equivalent of 3,000 tiled bathrooms once a week may seem a gigantic job, but it has been boiled down to a seven-hour performance by maintenance men of the Holland tunnel, busiest vehicular tunnel in the world.

The four walls of the tunnel extend a total of more than six and four-tenths miles and are covered with 350,000 square feet of tile. More than 15,000,000 motorists drive through it each year, but a crew of only four men is sufficient to keep it clean.

The job requires more than 1,500 gallons of detergent and 20,000 of water. The detergent is sprayed on each wall by a truck moving at 8 to 13 miles an hour. A second truck follows a few minutes later to give the tiled surface a water rinse.

The tunnel is cleaned at night, so as to interfere as little as possible with traffic. Each wall can be done in about 30 minutes, but the entire job requires about seven hours because of time needed for refilling the tanks with water and detergent.

Credit for extinguishing the four-hour fire went to Texas City's heroic volunteer fire department which lost 27 members in the fires and explosions that wrecked this water-front town a month ago.

Two crew members of the tug Richard Clarke were burned critically as they jumped from the flaming vessel and swam through burning gasoline. Forty-five members of the Pan-Massachusetts' crew also jumped overboard and were treated for minor burns.

The United States Marine hospital at Galveston, Tex., identified the two critically-burned victims as John Berchick, 49, believed to be from Logan, Pa., and Louis Homme, 40, Galveston.

James Marlow

Checking on the problem, the American Automobile Association (AAA) has gathered information from a number of its members around the country.

(The AAA is a federation of about 700 motor clubs working for the interest of motorists.)

Here's an example of what the AAA found:

A new car buyer ordered accessories costing $36. He got the car with $260 in accessories. It was take them all, or no car at all.

Manufacturer Sets Price

With all government ceilings on cars wiped out, this is the only restraint on a new car dealer, besides his conscience.

He must sell a new car at the price listed by the manufacturer, or lose his right to handle that make of car.

A tricky dealer can still sell at list price, but add the accessories to boost his profit.

There's no restraint on a used-car dealer. He can charge whatever he can get.

This writer asked the National Automobile Dealers Association (NADA) about all this. Its members are new car, not used car, dealers. This was the answer:

"It depends on what you call accessories. A large part of them are put on at the factory. Some accessories possibly are added by the dealers. We have heard this is being done."

New Type Black Market

"It's a new type of black market. But the NADA has a policy that no customer has to take accessories he doesn't want."

He was asked: But if a customer doesn't want the accessories, he can't get the car, can he since other customers will gobble it up?"

The answer: "That's the hell of it. The limit on this sort of thing will be reached only when you can walk in and buy a new car, that is, when new cars are plentiful."

Then this writer called the Automobile Manufacturers association in Detroit and asked if manufacturers were putting the accessories on the cars. The answer:

"It's fair to say that some are, some aren't. It's very difficult to say."

A Cinderella for the Slipper

Cinderella couldn't have used the Silver Slipper in 1934. Its repeated failures as a Columbus dance hall and roller rink had left it forlorn and tarnished in the depression gloom. But it has had a Cinderella transformation...

Wayne E. Brown performed the miracle. As a former executive in a large food chain he knew foods, the biggest industry in America. He knew grocery customers. And he had an idea...

The idea was to make nationally advertised food, drug and household items available at low cost. This meant large volume in large stores where customers could do a whole week's shopping in one trip, saving not only money but time and effort.

Out of that idea grew the Big Bear Stores. No. 1 unit, started in 1934 in the cob-webbed cavern of the old Silver Slipper dance hall, became the shopping mecca for thousands of families.

Today there are 11 Big Bear Stores in Columbus, Toledo, Newark, Lancaster and Marion, handling more than 700 tons of top-quality merchandise a week.

Highly capable management has used invested capital to provide stores, warehouses, equipment and inventory. The enterprise, which Mr. Brown now heads as president, has created more than 600 jobs and serves more than a million customers each week.

The Ohio Company is proud of the part it has had in underwriting capital needs of the Big Bear Stores. The resourcefulness and energy which built a depression-born idea into a major merchandising enterprise honors the American tradition of achievement.

C. OF C. FLAYS HIKE IN SOCIAL SECURITY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 19 — The Ohio Chamber of Commerce said today it was supporting a move in congress to freeze the social security tax rate at its present level.

The house ways and means committee was expected to begin hearings in Washington today on the social security levy and other taxes.

The Ohio Chamber declared an increase of the social security tax from 1 per cent each to 2½ per cent each upon employe and employer, scheduled for next Jan 1, would raise the payroll tax load in Ohio by approximately $128,250,000

The Chamber issued a statement reporting that the combined tax on employes and employers would be approximately $85,500,000 for 1947 at the present 1 per cent rate on each employe and worker and that under the proposed 5 per cent combined rate the tax load would be approximately $213,750 000 in 1948.

"The proposed increase of 1½ per cent on each employe and employer — or a total of 3 per cent in new taxes — can not be justified under present or prospective circumstances," C I Weaver, president of the Ohio Chamber, asserted 'The increase would reduce purchasing power and increase costs of products at this time when vigorous efforts are being made to stem inflation by cutting prices and taxes"

Weaver said the present old age and survivors' trust fund exceeds $8 100 000,000 (B) and declared an increase would produce reserves "far in excess of current needs"

The statement said the Chamber advocated adoption of a social security formula on a "pay-as-you-go' basis rather than the "so-called 'full reserve basis' discarded by congress in 1939 '

HIGHER MAIL RATES URGED

House Group Recommends Increases in Air Mail and Second Class.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19 — The house post office committee today approved legislation increasing postal rates to provide an estimated $100 000,000 additional revenue annually

The committee voted to raise the air mail rate from five cents to six cents an ounce and recommended increasing rates for second-class mail — newspapers and periodicals — if the papers are mailed beyond the county of publication.

Chairman Rees (R-Kas) said the latter increases are based on zones and on advertising content In addition to a boost of half a cent a pound on the reading portion of the publication

Air Mail Postcard

Besides the increase in the air mail letter rate, the committee recommended establishment of an air-mail postcard which may be mailed for four cents

The committee rejected a post office department suggestion to double the present one-cent rate on postcards, retained existing rates on newspapers and periodicals sent through the mail in the county of publication, and continued the present first-class mailing rate of three cents for letters

Increased price rates and advertising surcharges recommended by the post office department for second-class matter also were rejected by the committee

The legislation is subject to house action next week Rees made the estimate on the additional revenue the bill would provide

6 Other Recommendations

Other recommendations as explained by Rees:

1 Third class bulk mail increased two cents per pound, with "moderate" increases on non-bulk third-class mailings, and a minimum of one cent per piece for bulk mailings and newspapers and periodicals mailed in the county of publication

2 Retention of present rates for library books

3 Special delivery service boosted from 13 cents to 15 cents

4 Postal notes increased by one cent

5 No change in current rates for religious fraternal or scientific publications

On the basis of Rees' figures, the deficit for the next fiscal year will be approximately $200,000,000 The post office department had recommended a new rate structure intended to increase revenue by $173,000,000 instead of $110,000,000

HOLY LAND TRUCE HOPES GET SETBACK

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, May 19—Conditions laid down by the Jewish underground as the price of peace in the Holy Land appeared today to have virtually killed all hope of a truce urged by United Nations members pending settlement of the Palestine problem.

In a clandestine radio broadcast yesterday, Irgun Zvai Leumi and the so-called Stern Gang declared they would not halt the campaign of violence until the British lay down their arms, end the arrests of Jews in Palestine, cease deporting Jews to other countries and respect the rights of Jewish citizens in their homeland"

"We struggle for the establishment of a free, Jewish, undivided Palestine," the broadcast said "and we cannot be forced to end that justified struggle."

The announcer asserted that Britain had shown her "unwillingness to keep a truce" by deporting to Cyprus Saturday night 1 141 uncertified Jewish immigrants intercepted as they neared the Palestine coast aboard the 200-ton vessel Trade Winds after a 13-day voyage from Genoa

"Britain's violence is only answerable with violence on our part," the broadcast added

It suggested that UN members who signed the truce appeal "try again to induce Britain to lay down her arms"

Advises Vets Against Excessive GI Loans

World War II veterans should seriously consider their present and estimated future income and expenses before negotiating GI loans George C Sturgeon loan guaranty officer for the Veterans Administration Branch Office in Columbus, advised today

"Before a veteran decides on a definite home, farm or business property, he should know something about the amount of loan he will be permitted to obtain under the GI Bill and the approximate monthly payments he will have to make," Mr Sturgeon said

He explained that the accepted standard used by many lending institutions is that no loan should exceed a figure two and one-half times a veteran's annual income In other words, if a veteran's annual income is $3,000, the maximum loan should be about $7,500 Another standard is that a veteran's monthly loan payment should not exceed his income for one week In this case, he should pay no more than $60 monthly on his loan with a weekly wage salary of $50

"In addition to loan interest, taxes and insurance, veterans also should remember that they often may have other expenses connected with the property for repairs and general upkeep," Mr Sturgeon pointed out

VA does not loan money, but is authorized under terms of the GI Bill to guarantee 50 per cent of a loan up to $2 000 in a non-real estate loan and up to $4,000 on a real estate loan

Remind Vets of Sept 1 Deadline on Leave Pay

Officials of the Veterans Administration today reminded World War II veterans of the Sept 1, 1947 deadline for filing claims for settlement of unused military leave

All veterans who have not applied for their terminal leave payments are advised to act immediately to avoid delays which might result from an increased number of applications just prior to the deadline date Application for unused terminal leave should be made to the branch of service concerned and not to VA.

Special VA Counseling Offered Student Vets

The Veterans Administration today called attention to special counseling service available to World War II veterans who have personal problems which interfere with their education or vocational training

Specially trained counselors are assigned to VA regional offices in Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, and Louisville to help veteran-trainees solve their personal problems and difficulties Many veterans are directed to the counselors before starting school or on-job training When difficulties arise while a veteran is enrolled in school or is in training on-the-job, it is expected that VA's training officers, who follow up on ex-servicemen and women in both types of programs will discover problems and encourage the veteran to seek personal counseling

VA Hires Cadet Nurses Pending Registration

It is the policy of the Veterans Administration to employ graduate cadet nurses and other graduate nurses pending their registration as registered nurses Miss Frances Hellman chief of the nursing division for the VA's Ohio-Michigan-Kentucky Branch Office in Columbus said today

'It is the practice of members of the nursing profession to become affiliated with a hospital or other institution during the period between graduation and registration" Miss Hellman explained. 'The VA will employ graduate nurses who have satisfactorily completed a basic course and are graduates of approved schools of nursing for a period not to exceed 90 days pending their registration"

Nurses must meet the qualifications for probational appointment in the VA's department of medicine and surgery, must have completed a basic course in nursing and must submit evidence of having applied for registration Salaries of VA nurses employed under the pre-registration provision is based on $2 644 annually

VA Pays 3½ Billion In GI Insurance Claims

More than three and one-half billion dollars in insurance claims has been paid to beneficiaries of World War II veterans in the U S since the inception of National Service Life Insurance in 1940

Insurance officials at the Veterans Administration Branch Office in Columbus, today said that two-out-of-three World War II veterans in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky, by allowing their GI policies to lapse are bypassing nearly 10 billion dollars of insurance protection for their families and their dependents

It is not necessary for veterans to reinstate or convert the full $10,000 of GI insurance VA officials explained According to a veterans budget any amount from one to ten thousand dollars of insurance may be reinstated or converted to any one of the six permanent plans.

Veterans now have until Aug 1, to reinstate by submitting a comparative health statement and by paying two monthly premiums, regardless of how long their policies have been lapsed.

HEALTH INSURANCE URGED ON CONGRESS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19—President Truman asked congress today to give 'immediate attention" to enactment of a federal health and disability insurance program

In a special message to the legislators, Mr. Truman declared such legislation is 'crucial to our national welfare '

Under the type of program he asks, a worker unable to work because of injury or illness would receive government payments

Mr Truman told congress

'Of the four basic risks to the security of working people and their families — unemployment, old age, death and sickness—we have provided some insurance protection against three.

'Protection against the fourth—sickness—is the major missing element in our national social insurance program

Mr Truman's message asked, in addition

1 Adequate public health services, including an expanded maternal and child health program

2. Funds for research and medical education.

3 More hospitals and doctors, especially in sparsely - settled areas.

"The total health program which I have proposed is crucial to our national welfare,' he said. "The heart of that program is national health insurance

'Until it is a part of our national fabric, we shall be wasting our most precious national resource and shall be perpetuating unnecessary misery and human suffering"

The President asserted that an insurance plan is the democratic way of coping with the menace of serious illness which requires expensive care and services

SECRET NAZI PAPERS SET FOR PUBLICATION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19—Allied historians have found to be "substantially complete" the seized secret files of the Nazi foreign office, including foreign Minister Ribbentrop's private file and records of Hitler's talks with foreign statesmen.

This was reported today in an announcement that France has agreed to join with the United States and Britain in publishing the record of Nazi Germany's pre-war and wartime foreign policy.

All of the seized German records will be put at the disposal of scholars of the three nations for selection and publication, the state department and British foreign office said jointly.

Anglo-American editors, who have been at work on the selection task for months, already have decided to make public first papers covering the years 1937-1941. They are scheduled to meet with French scholars in Berlin next month to complete editorial plans.

Hitler contemplated the possibility of victory through a double-cross that involved a secret truce with Russia, captured German naval documents disclose

The documents indicate that Hitler discussed the scheme in the summer of 1943, when it began to appear that Germany might lose the war.

The proposal was that Germany negotiate a secret armistice with Russia In this way the Soviets would continue to receive American lend-lease aid and Germany would be able to concentrate all her fighting forces in the west.

The documents, made public yesterday in Washington and London, did not make clear whether the proposal ever was submitted to Moscow. The plan was mentioned in the minutes of a conference which Hitler and his commanders held on July 17-18, 1943

The documents also disclosed that the Nazis plotted the seizure or sinking by submarine of the Italian fleet should Italy declare an armistice with the Allies They brought to light also that the Germans had to plan to take over Italy even before the Allies invaded Sicily

HIGH COURT RULES CONVICTIONS ILLEGAL

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 19—The supreme court today ruled three Texas newspapermen were improperly convicted of contempt of court for publication of several news stories and an editorial.

Justice Douglas wrote the court's 6-3 majority decision Justice Jackson wrote a dissent and Justice Frankfurter wrote another. Chief Justice Vinson concurred in Frankfurter's dissent.

The decision was given on an appeal by Conway C. Craig, publisher of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, Bob McCracken, managing editor, and Tom Mahaney, reporter.

Judge Joe D. Browning of the Nueces county court in Texas adjudged them guilty of contempt after the publication of items dealing with an eviction case which he tried. The newsmen were sentenced to three days imprisonment each, but the sentences were stayed pending the supreme court's decision

In the eviction case, an army private unsuccessfully sought to hold possession of a building where he operated a cafe

Judge Browning said that the news stories and editorial were calculated x x x x to prejudice and influence the court in its ruling" on a request for a new trial of the eviction proceedings. He finally denied a new trial

The supreme court's ruling overturned a ruling of the Texas court of crim nal appeals which had upheld Browning's contempt findings.

Feller and Gordon Team To Trounce Yankees 5-3

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 19—Joe (Flash) Gordon and Blazin' Bob Feller of the Cleveland Indians today enjoyed another victorious round in their bitter feud with the New York Yankees.

Gordon, who expressed a desire before the current Cleveland-New York series to 'slam a couple extra-base hits down (Yankee president) Larry MacPhail's throat," was in a slamming mood yesterday as he clubbed his seventh homer to pace the Tribe to a 5-3 victory.

Admitting that no victories are "sweeter" than those in Yankee stadium, Feller notched his fifth triumph, against three losses, with the aid of some neat relief pitching in the ninth inning by Steve Gromek.

Traded to the Indians for Allie Reynolds, Gordon had three hits in three official trips, was on base five times during the game and tallied two runs to spearhead the Tribe's 12-hit attack against Reynolds and reliefer Joe Page.

Eddie Robinson, rookie first sacker who replaced Les Fleming after an extended stretch of bench duty, clouted his first round tripper of the season.

Cleveland opened the scoring in the second with singles by Robinson, Gordon and Jim Hegan tallying one run. The Yankees knotted the count in the sixth when Feller forced in a tally with a free pass after singles by Charley Keller and Joe Dimaggio, plus Ken Keltner's error, loaded the bases.

Robinson's home, Gordon's walk, a double by Keltner and Al Lopez' one-baser scored three runs to shell Reynolds from the mound in the eighth, and the Tribe second baseman drilled his circuit clout into the left field bleachers in the ninth.

In another touch of wildness, Feller walked in another run in the ninth. Gromek throttled the Bombers' rally as one marker scored on DiMaggio's fly and George McQuinn grounded out to end the game.

Blackwell Only Red Pitcher Who Can Win

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, May 19 — Lanky Ewell Blackwell seems to be the only Redleg who can hit victory road with any degree of consistency.

The six-foot, five-inch right-hander faced the battling Boston Braves in the opener of a twin bill yesterday, scattered nine hits and came through with a 2-1 victory, his fifth of the season against two losses.

Johnny Vander Meer took on the Braves in the nightcap, parceled out eight hits in as many innings but lost 3-1.

A pair of ninth inning doubles, by Denny Zientara and Eddie Miller, made possible the first game win after the Reds had deadlocked the contest, 1-1, in the eighth. Blackwell fanned seven and issued just two walks, one of them intentional.

Vandy pitched like a champion in the early rounds and had a 1-0 lead going into the seventh.

The Braves found the range at that point and three successive singles tied the count before Hank Camelli, Boston catcher, doubled to chase home another. A single and triple accounted for the third Boston marker in the eighth.

Cards Being Leftied Into NL Coal Hole

Some have called it a slump. Others have called it just "a slow start."

But it was apparent today that the trouble with the world champion St. Louis Cardinals is that the rest of the National league has been ganging up on them with an unorthodox barrage of left-handed pitchers.

Including their double defeat by the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday — which incidentally sunk them deeper into the cellar, seven full games off the pace—the frustrated Redbirds have been beaten by southpaws 11 times this season and won only twice against portside pitching. In 27 games, rival managers have started lefthanders against them 18 times.

After Ken Heintzelman, ex-Pirate, held the Cards to nine hits in the opener to beat them 6-3, Ken Raffensperger blanked the Cards through 12 innings to win the nightcap 1-0.

Only a game and a half separate the first place Boston Braves and the sixth place Pittsburgh Pirates in the National league.

After the Pittsburgh Pirates had overcome a 6-1 New York lead in the opener to win 7-6, the Giants came back to take the abbreviated seven-inning nightcap 11-6 to retain second place.

The Dodgers ended a skein of 18 scoreless innings by tallying four times in the seventh to down the Cubs 4-2 before a record Chicago crowd of 46,572 paid admissions.

Scoring two runs in the ninth inning of each game, the Chicago White Sox took the measure of Washington's Senators twice in the Capitol City 4-2 and 3-2.

Philadelphia's surprising Athletics moved into sixth place, only four and a half games behind the first place Detroit Tigers, by trimming the St. Louis Browns twice at Shibe Park 4-3 and 5-2.

George Case has a lifetime stolen base record of 344 thefts.

CHARACTERISTIC SPRING SCENE IN QUEBEC'S LAURENTIANS

Anglers are enjoying "work" on many of the countless lakes and streams of the Province of Quebec's Laurentian Mountains, which actually begin to rise only 45 miles north of the great Canadian metropolis of Montreal. Montreal in turn is two hours by plane, a day by car, overnight by train from many large United States centers. This entrance of a charming Laurentian Mountain stream provides its share of the thousands of Lake and speckled trout, taken in this part of Canada annually. The tourist-minded Province of Quebec has excellent resorts for the outdoor sportsman.—Adv.

OSL CHIEFS HERE TO O.K. TWO PROPOSALS

The directors of the Ohio State league approved two proposals of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues at a meeting yesterday at Hotel Harding.

One would increase the limit from 15 to 16 players that each club in a class D league. The other would permit the admission of the Cuban Winter league into the organized fold.

Both measures require a majority support of the minor league members and approval by the majors before they can be adopted. The final vote on both proposals must be in George Trautman's office by May 31.

The directors of the league and President Frank M. Colley were guests of the Marion club at a dinner last night at the Manor House. They also attended the doubleheader between the Cubs and Richmond at Lincoln Park.

Other guests at the dinner were "Turk" Reilly, sporting goods saleman, and Ben Keiner, concessionaire.

Another record was the first dead heat in Grand Circuit history, between Miss Day and Maxie Woolen April 30.

Seabiscut, Once Top Money Winner, Dies

By The Associated Press

UKIAH, Calif., May 19—The 'Biscuit' is no more.

Charles S. Howard's mighty Seabiscuit, one the greatest money winner of the American turf, died of a heart attack Saturday midnight at Howard's Ridgewood ranch where he has sired 100 colts since his retirement in 1940. He was 14 years old.

He was buried late yesterday in front of the main ranch house, and a lite-sized bronze statue of the horse will be placed over the grave.

Seabiscuit helped put western racing on the map. In 1936 as a three-year-old he won $28,985, and by 1940 he had accumulated $437,730, an earning record until surpassed by Whirlaway with $561,161.

SMITH CLOTHING

Edington Wins 1-0 Nightcap; Cubs Butchered 22-2 in P. M.

John Edington took the color from the Richmond Roses last night at Lincoln park as he limited them to six hits and won 1 to 0 on hits by John Scavo and Roy Hollingshead in the tenth frame.

The Roses had combed five Marion hurlers for 27 hits including six home runs and seven doubles to win the afternoon contest 22 to 2. Ken St. Pierre held the Cubs to six hits in the afternoon encounter. The Saturday night game was rained out.

The Roses looked like entirely different batters against Edington's well controlled curve ball and his mates backed him up with almost errorless play. The only miscue was charged to Bob Meyers when he juggled a ground ball and lost his man at first, but Jim Forbes caught a runner going into third on a return throw to Meyers to atone for the miscue.

Burbrink Saves Bacon

Manager Burbrink pulled the Cubs out of a hole in the eighth round by a fine throw to second base to pick off Richards who had doubled with none out. A great catch by Nelson in deep center field in the third frame saved two runs which could have meant the ball game. Two men were on the bases at the time and running with two out when Melvin snagged a long drive with his back to the infield against the center field wall.

The Cubs threatened in several innings against Bob Upton, Richmond hurler, but good support pulled him out of trouble. Although the Cubs got only five hits against Upton, two came in the tenth when they counted most.

Scavo Leads Off

In this inning John Scavo, returning to the Cub lineup after an injury last week, led off with a single over second that Gerber knocked down but could not make a throw. Bob Meyers pushed him to scoring position on a neat sacrifice and, after Edington struck out, Roy Hollingshead came through in the clutch with a sharp single to center and Scavo crossed the plate.

It could have been a close play at the plate on Scavo but Regan let the ball get through him in a hurried attempt to get the throw away. Hollingshead's single sent 1,757 fan who had witnessed the afternoon slaughter home happy.

No Stopping Hoosiers

No one could have stopped the Hoosiers in the afternoon contest as they hit everything thrown up to the plate. John Tate started the game for Marion and looked in the first inning like he had his best stuff handy, but in the second the Roses scored a single run. In the third the fireworks started for the Roses.

Tate was removed in the third round and Ray Alman came in his first pitching assignment of the year. Smith, Brendell and Regula followed but none were able to halt the slugging Roses.

The Cubs will tangle with the Muncie Packers for the first time this year in a single game tonight. The two clubs were rained out of a pair of contests at Muncie last week. Bill Rosin is scheduled to pitch for the locals. Mike Blazo who managed Middletown last year is at the helm for the Packers.

Cub Executives Present

Jack Sheehan, director of the Chicago Cubs farm system and Tony Lucadello, Cub scout watched the locals split with Richmond yesterday.

New help is expected for the Cubs soon.

A new outfielder from Fayettesville, N. C., of the Tri-State league has been assigned. He is on his way now and is expected to arrive in time for the game tonight.

Sheehan played with the Brooklyn Dodgers in the 1920 World Series against Cleveland. He was a third baseman. He has been director of the Cubs expansive farm system for several years.

Zanesville Splits With Dayton In 11-5, 8-6 Games

By The Associated Press

Zanesville thumped Dayton 11-5 yesterday then lost the nightcap 8 to 6 in a 14-inningon marathon that required three hours and 52 minutes. Newark put put down the Springfield Giants 8-1, but came out second best by 3-2 in the even-inning curtain-ringer.

A third twin bill, Muncie at Lima, was postponed because of wet grounds.

A homer by catcher Charlie Moore over the left-center field wall with a runner aboard in the 14th enabled Dayton to gain an even break in the two games at Zanesville.

At Newark Johnny Batt homered with the bases filled in the fifth frame of the opener to spark Newark to its 8-1 triumph behind Bob Brunner's eight-hit hurling. Springfield scored three runs in the second frame of the nightcap, taking advantage of wildness by Newark pitchers to win 3-2.

All league games saturday were rained out.

BOBBY JACK STUART
Takes Over for Glenn

Facing the unenviable task of trying to fill the shoes of Army's Mr. Outside, All-America Glenn Davis, in next year's Cadet backfield, is Bobby Jack Stuart. In 1945 he was West Point's third leading ground gainer. He carried the pigskin 41 times for 281 yards—a 6.9 yard average per try. He caught three passes for 87 yards, scored three touchdowns and gained 548 yards. He's 20, stands five, ten and is definitely Army's No. 1 halfback. He hails from Shawnee, Okla.

Hal Chase, Greatest First Baseman of All Time, Dies

By The Associated Press

COLUSA, Calif., May 19—Hal Chase, probably the greatest fielding first baseman of all time, is dead.

"Prince Hal," whose brilliant career in the majors ended under the cloud of the "Black Sox scandal" of 1919, twice was in a coma for 36 hours during his lengthy illness, but twice he rallied. The third strike put him out.

Chase was 64, and a pathetic figure from a kidney ailment, heart trouble and complications of old age. He died at 1:45 p. m. yesterday at Colusa Memorial hospital, which he entered in March.

Chase started in organized baseball in 1903 with Victoria of the old northwestern league and the next year broke into the Pacific Coast league with Los Angeles. In 1905, Clark Griffith, manager of the New York Yankees, lifted him into the big time.

With the Yankees, Chase was the most agile, quick-thinking, first sacker baseball had ever produced. He had an uncanny way of sensing the batter's intention and roved over a wide area, even catching pop fouls behind the catcher. He was a wizard on a bunt.

Chase was traded to the Chicago White Sox in 1913 and, after a dispute with his bosses, he switched the next season to the Buffalo Federals. He bounced back into the majors with the Cincinnati Reds after the 1915 season.

With the Reds he led the National league in batting with .339 in 1916.

Chase concluded his major league career in 1919 with the New York Giants. He was 37 then, a veteran of 15 seasons in the big circuits. But he had never realized his ambition to play in a World Series.

Chase was not accused of being involved in the "Black Sox scandal" but later he admitted he had advance knowledge that the 1919 World Series between the Chicago White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds had been "fixed".

"Sure, I knew about that," Chase said not long ago. "But I was no squealer."

Schlairet, Crystals Games Rained Out

Rain kept both Schlairet and Marion Crystals baseball teams off the playing field yesterday.

Schlairet had a game booked with Galion Moose at McKinley park and the Crystals were scheduled to go to Galina for a game with an independent club there.

Next Sunday Schlairet will entertained Sandusky Boosters at McKinley and the Crystals will meet Ferri-Bob grill of Columbus at Crystal.

Gulfstream Park was the only race track in Florida to show an increase in mutuels and attendance last season.

When the family of Mr. and Mrs. James Brink, their 11 children and one grandchild returned from Texas to Los Angeles, they found that the two-room house in which they lived had been torn down. They brought suit, charging unlawful eviction. The court ruled that since they occupied the house as guests and not as regular tenants, their claim is invalid. Maurice Chevalier and Bing Crosby combine the top singing talents of two continents and the thrill of fondly remembered songs when the French entertainer makes his first post-war radio appearance during the ABC broadcast on Wednesday, May 21, at 9 p. m.

All cars competing in the Indianapolis Speedway classic this year will have to pass two gruelling tests before they can roar around the paved oval for the grand prize money, reveals sportscaster Bill Slater, who will be in charge of a staff of announcers for four Mutual Network broadcasts of the event May 30. For, in addition to qualifying for the race by May 24, every car will have to pass a new type of safety test. Slater, describing the examination, calls it the "magnaflux" test, a rigid and thorough check of steeling apparatus, and all other moving parts, particularly those not readily visible. Failure of even a minor part has caused fatal accidents at the track. "One of our seven crews covering the Speedway broadcast will be specially stationed in a mobile unit which can race to the scene of an accident in record speed," states Slater, "but with the added precautions being used this year we're hoping that their job will be a light one."

Raymond Massey, Pauline Lord and Mary Anderson will be starred in the theatre guild on the air production of "Ethan Frome," the absorbing drama based on Edith Wharton's distinguished novel of the same name when it is broadcast Sunday, May 25, at 9 p. m., over ABC. Miss Lord and Massey will recreate the roles they played in the stage version of the play when it was produced on Broadway in 1936. It was chosen one of the 10 best plays of that season.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

Al Dicky's words I sprang from my chair and noiselessly raced for Mary's bedside

Her eyes were still closed, but her head and body were stirring slightly and a second after I reached her her eyes opened, and she looked up at me the pitiful reaching-out look of a terribly frightened child

"I knew you'd be here,' she whispered lifting her hands and twisting them around mine 'What—what—time is it?"

"Five-thirty "I told her, with a look at my wrist watch

'Where—is—everybody?'

'Your uncle Dicky is in the sitting room, Faith asleep—I hope—in her room Noel with his family on the top floor, Uncle Jack and Aunt Katharine in their own suite She will be over in less than an hour, I think, for Uncle Jack leaves at six o'clock"

I hoped she would ask the reason for Jacks early departure, but palpably her mind was closed to everything save her own problem

What a sleep I've had!" she said wonderingly "Twelve hours about isn't it?"

'Fully that," I told her "I hope you feel rested"

'My body does," she said "But, Oh, Auntie Madge my brain never will be rested' I never shall know a second of peace until—'

Roving Around the Room

Her eyes had been roving around the room as she was speaking—I guessed that she was reluctant to meet mine—and suddenly I saw her body stiffen

Then she raised her arm and pointed dramatically at the barred window nearest her

"Am I seeing things that aren't there, or are those bars across those windows?'

I braced myself for an ordeal

"Yes, the windows all have been barred," I said "You see Father—'

But she interrupted me ruthlessly palpably hearing nothing after the word 'barred' And in the beautiful eyes lifted to mine there was a dark, ugly look of suspicion, making me wonder fearfully if I were imagining that her gaze also held thwarted desperate purpose

'Putting the bars up so crazy Mary can't jump through them!" she said her tones brittle as crackling icicles "Well my darling auntie, I'll admit you've called the turn this time But do you imagine you can watch me every minute'"

Exasperated Mother

I gripped her hands tightly and spoke in the manner of an exasperated mother reproving a naughty child

'Stop this nonsense this instant, and listen to me!" I ordered severely Those bars are being put up not only on the windows of this suite, but on those of your own suite, of the Philip Veritzen de luxe owner's suite upstairs of my studio and of Dicky's penthouse studio '

'You must be expecting me to get around," she quipped, but there was no mirth in her voice

'There is nothing about you in the picture," I told her bluntly 'Father came up last night to tell us about an espionage problem which is confronting him and which concerns the treasure hidden below the Transylvanian royal castle I will tell you all about it when you are strong enough to hear it But the problem involves Olga, and, of course every member of her family and of Father's Hence the precautions'

"You know Father's little ways, I rattled on, determined to cram as many as possible of my excuses into her mind as I could manage Within five minutes of his arrival here, he had Philip Veritzen in the next room and was planning the barring of all the windows He's done the same thing before, you know "

A Good Yarn

'It's a good yarn Mary said judicially, and I saw that though her dark mood had not changed her anger at the barring of the windows had vanished But there was a jabbing little warning inside me to be wary of any apparent lightness of mood in her She is a marvelous actress and I feared that she would employ any wiles possible to lull my suspicions of her purpose

"And I suppose you're sticking to it she went on Well, I'll play along with you, but what is it they say about confession? I'm making a mental reservation And now, darling, what's my program for today' Do I get to do any more studying or is that taboo after my performance last night?'
